

RAYLENE

6 Years Old

Diagnosed with HR B-Cell Acute
Lymphoblastic Leukemia
at age 4

On Jan. 12, 2017 we took Raylene to see a rheumatoid arthritis doctor because her knees hurt and she was unable to walk. The next day we got a call from the doctor and she informed us to bring her into the ER, there will be doctors waiting for us. After more blood work, Raylene was diagnosed with HR B-Cell Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia at the age of 4. It was the hardest pill to swallow. Raylene had a port placed and started chemo right away. Even with all her pokes, feeling sick, port removed and placed on the other side, getting Valley Fever and appendicitis she has been so happy and positive throughout her journey.

Her strength has kept our family strong.

Think about all the smiling faces you have helped while you run or walk!
